new Bipartite proposal forms – one for each area descriptor; (3) Coordinate with Curriculum Committee; (4) Reaffirm long-standing policy about introductory courses; (5) Past practice will not longer be considered as justification for approval; (6) Coordinate Course Outline Proposals and Bipartite Proposals with Curriculum Committee; (7) Formalize protocol for conducting Bipartite Meetings. This is considered a first reading of the draft document.

B. Enhancing Faculty Diversity

Rodolfo Padilla passed out an Academic Faculty Diversity Workgroup Work Group Report. The report is based on a handout that asked participants within an active listening exercise to present one fact, opinion, and feeling. Although the “facts” have not been validated, the 13 responses were presented, as were the opinions collected from a participant validation form. Discussion focused on how to encourage diversity of all types. Further exercises are planned

VII. New Business
